HIS HOLINESS THE FOURTEENTH DALAI LAMA
An Illustrated Biography

by Tenzin Geyche Tethong; with a foreword by Tendzin Choegyal

This beautifully illustrated chronicle presents an in-depth, firsthand narrative of the Dalai Lama’s life story and the Tibetan saga. From remembrances of those close to him, and a treasure trove of over 400 images of Tibet’s priceless visual heritage, it preserves a record of what it was like to create a nation from nothing, in exile, and how His Holiness rallied endlessly for his people. A rich blend of biography, history, and legacy, it captures a detailed account of the tumultuous events through which the Dalai Lama was forced to chart a path, leading to his emergence as an international figure. It illuminates as well his initiatives in the wider world to relieve suffering, overcome global challenges, and foster human flourishing through compassionate universal ethics, working hand-in-hand with science and ingenuity.

Tendzin Choegyal was thirteen years old when he accompanied his elder brother, the Dalai Lama—twenty-three at the time—on his dangerous 1959 escape to India. Decades later, he began encouraging his lifelong personal friend, Tenzin Geyche Tethong—for forty years His Holiness’ personal aide—to record their people’s journey. As “elders” in the Tibetan community, they have collaborated with photo archivist Jane Moore and a creative team to produce a memorable, comprehensive, and close-up portrait. It offers, in these uncertain times, an uplifting retrospective of an iconic leader, a heritage, a cause, and a creative vision that have won the attention and hearts of people around the world.

MARCH

A 20TH CENTURY TRADITIONAL JEWISH FAMILY SAGA & A NOVEL OF HISTORY, IDEAS, AND DELUSIONS

Praise for Simon Louvish

“Mr. Louvish has enough combustible talent to earn the comparisons with Joseph Heller, Kurt Vonnegut and Swift that have come his way. The apposite adjective in the long run will most likely be ‘Louvish.’”
—New York Times Book Review on The Silencer

“Louvish arrives on the literary scene with the force of a hurricane.”
—Kansas City Star on The Silencer

THE DREAM OF AGES

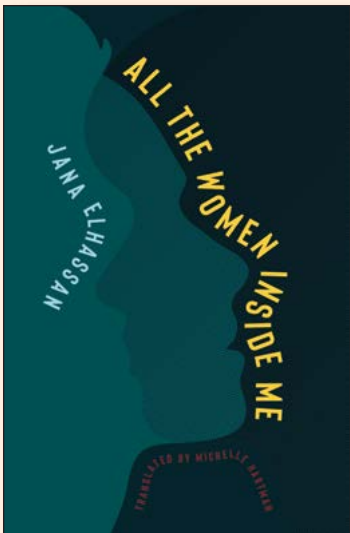

by Simon Louvish

Fanning out from the small Moldavian village of Celovest at the turn of the 20th century, the Dream of Ages follows the global saga of the four sons and two daughters of a traditional Jewish family as their lives twist and turn in the storms of war, politics, art and ideology that rip apart the old Empires of the 19th century and create the schisms, aspirations, conflicts and realities of the modern world. Through WW I, the Russian Revolution and civil war, the dream of Zion, the magnet of America, the lure of the far east in China, the epic narratives of the scattered siblings turn from 1905 Odessa, the golden ages of Paris and Berlin, to the foundation years of Cecil B. DeMille’s Hollywood, the mad frenetic world of vintage vaudeville, the Jewish settlements in Palestine, resistance and terror, the tale is drawn together by the reluctant quest of the next generation for answers to the moral, social, political and psychological puzzles that bedevil our own Age of Confusion, our worship of the “new” undermined by the unavoidable consequences of what passed before.

Told in the intertwined voices of the protagonists, a novel of history, ideas, delusions, myths, magic, the trials and errors of life, and the forces that made us what we are.

SIMON LOUVISH is a biographer of comedians and author of satirical and outrageous fiction. His film biographies include, Chaplin: The Tramp’s Odyssey, Mae West: It Ain’t No Sin, and Monkey Business: The Lives and Legends of the Marx Brothers.

SHORTLISTED FOR THE INTERNATIONAL PRIZE OF ARABIC FICTION

Praise for Jana Elhassan’s The Ninety-Ninth Floor

“[S]harp, unabashed prose... Anger, passion, and loss dominate the pages of this gripping, emotional novel as the protagonists face the bloody shadows of their pasts.”—Publishers Weekly

“Whether it’s discussing love or war, this arresting meditation on loss is visceral and honest.”
—Library Journal (starred review)

ALL THE WOMEN INSIDE ME

by Jana Elhassan; translated by Michelle Hartman

Set in Lebanon, Jana Elhassan’s All the Women Inside Me presents an intricate psychological portrait of a woman, Sahar, as she navigates her way through so many relationships, ill-prepared by her parents and unhappy childhood home. The novel’s innovative structure allows it to plumb psychological and philosophical depths beyond the specific characters revealing a profound humanity. Sahar’s father is the lapsed leftist who masks his boredom by busying himself with great causes. Her depressed mother’s nerves are as delicate as the crystal she keeps immaculately polished in her home. A charlatan sheikh trades in religious magic, making a profit off of people’s misery. A boyfriend leaves his great love to marry a “more appropriate” good girl.

The novel is able to capture the intensity of emotions and experiences in women’s lives, but it is not merely a story about the power of imagination to enrich the lives of oppressed women. Elhassan’s novel is a stark appraisal of how far women are pushed and the length to which women will go to escape a reality that is rotten at the core.

JANA FAWAZ ELHASSAN is an award-winning novelist from Lebanon. She is the author of The Ninety-Ninth Floor, which was also shortlisted for the International Prize for Arabic Fiction.

MICHELLE HARTMAN is a professor of Arabic and francophone literature at McGill University in Montreal. She is the translator of several works from Arabic.

UNDER THE GAZE OF ANGELS

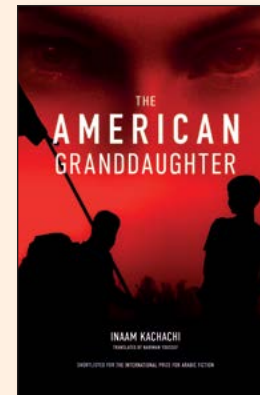

Stories

by Said Habib

Under the Gaze of Angels by Said Habib offers treasured views of family and neighborhood life, native to the Galilee, in the years leading up to and following the historic upheavals of 1948 in Palestine. A collection of four stories, conveyed with warmth and gratitude, it includes three set during the time of British rule: “Zuha and the Book Vendor,” “The English Gramophone,” and “Yildiz the Turkish Woman.” They are followed by the book’s title work, a remembrance that ventures from childhood to adult and elder years, pursued by loss. But imagined or recalled in exile, these vivid, evocative mementos quietly disarm the violence that surrounds them, restoring a stolen past to memory under the gaze of angels.

SAID HABIB is a Toronto-based writer of Palestinian descent. This is his first published work.

NEW BIOGRAPHY AND MEMOIR

A NOSTALGIC VOYAGE THAT REVEALS
THE SYRIAN CAPITAL'S MAJESTIC PAST

Praise for Suad Amiry

“Full of marvelously detailed, colorful human complication, as funny as it is galling and heartbreaking.”
—Tony Kushner on Sharon and My Mother-in-Law

“A literary protest done with great wit, skill, and passion. Not only is it really funny but it shows the kind of courage, vision, and humanity needed to bring peace to

—Eve Ensler on Sharon and My Mother-in-Law

JUNE

MY DAMASCUS

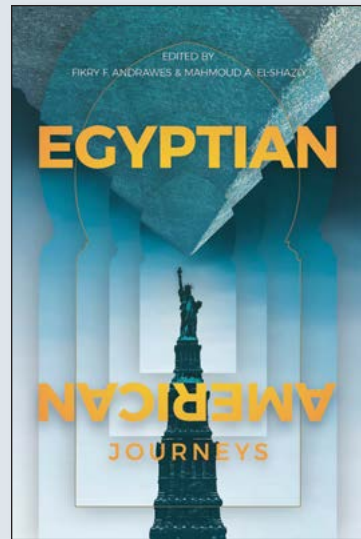

Suad Amiry

Writer and architect, Suad Amiry, was born in an old neighborhood of Damascus, the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world. In My Damascus she takes her reader by the hand through not only the narrow alleys and lively souqs adjacent to the grand Umayyad Mosque, but also into the intimate spaces of her rich merchant grandfather's Baroudi Mansion.

Through a web of interwoven personal stories and an intricate mix of simple, complicated or sometimes devious characters, Amiry travels across space and time, spanning three generations of family history. The Baroudi women animate the story and sparkle like no others. Through them Amiry traces the social and political history of Greater Syria from the Ottoman Empire era until its present-day devastation, juxtaposing them with the most intimate, loving, often contentious, family relations and secrets. In the end, her Damascus becomes a metaphor for a dispersed family and a lost past, as well as an elegy for a city she can no longer claim as her own.

SUAD AMIRY, a Palestinian writer and architect, is the author of Menopausal Palestine: Women at the Edge, Nothing to Lose but Your Life, and the highly-acclaimed Sharon and My Mother-in-Law.

EGYPTIAN-AMERICAN JOURNEYS An Anthology

edited by Fikry F. Andrawes and Mahmoud A. El-Shazly

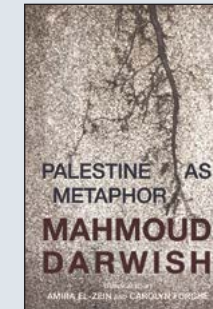

Egyptians are relative newcomers to the United States. Small numbers of Egyptians began to leave the country after the Second World War. But after the 1967 War with Israel, the trickle became a flood. Many Egyptians became disillusioned with the governmental system and decided to emigrate.

Why did they leave Egypt? How did they adjust to and integrate into their new lives in the US? How did they relate to their motherland? The answers to these questions can be found in this anthology. The autobiographical essays include personal reflections of engineers, medical doctors, taxi drivers, business people, scientists, stay-at-home moms, Egyptologists, artists, teachers, and university professors, among others. There are Jews, Christians, Muslims, and atheists. Egyptians immigrated to the US for educational, political, religious, or economic reasons. Some were pushed out of Egypt by adverse circumstances; others were pulled toward the United States seeking new opportunities. Often it was a combination of both.

FIKRY ANDRAWES is the author of many scientific articles. He has published several books on Egypt. MAHMOUD A. ELSHAZLY, received his MS degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Illinois at Urbana.

NEW INTERNATIONAL FOLK TALES

MARCH
(REPRINT)

A COLLECTION OF TALES RICH IN CULTURAL SIGNIFICANCE AND INSIGHTS INTO THE LIVES OF THE PEOPLE OF TIBET

“Through these tales, the ethical principles of right living are passed on from generation to generation.”
—Jetsun Pema, sister of His Holiness the Fourteenth Dalai Lama

TALES OF THE GOLDEN CORPSE
Tibetan Folk Tales
by Sandra Benson

Tales of the Golden Corpse is the first complete English version of the famous Tibetan folktales told to a young boy who has killed seven sorcerers in the defense of his Master. The boy must redeem himself by carrying a talking corpse full of wondrous tales on a long journey, without himself speaking a word.

These 25 tales of intrigue and magic provide the reader with a window through which to view ancient Tibetan culture. Within them, you will encounter heroes and villains, fearsome witches, murderous demons, and clever tricksters with a uniquely Tibetan humor. Songs, riddles, jokes, and sayings make the stories come alive as they unfold against the background of everyday Tibet—its farmers and nomads, kings and magical beings.

SANDRA BENSON is the author of the English–Tibetan Folktale Reader, the first collection of Tibetan folk tales used in English-language education in Tibet. She lives in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

OF INTEREST TO YOUNG ADULTS AND ADULTS ALIKE

“What is life like for you, Jody Sokolower asks the children and young people of the Palestinian village of Silwan. Her extraordinary book tells their stories ... And she brings the stories home, documenting the parallel histories in which Israeli efforts to destroy Palestinian lives and seize their land are met with the same generations of resistance as US efforts to eliminate the Indigenous people of this land.”

DETERMINED TO STAY
Palestinian Youth Fight for Their Village
by Jody Sokolower; foreword by Nick Estes

Silwan is a Palestinian village located just outside the ancient walls of the Old City of Jerusalem. Determined to Stay is a moving story of a village and its people. As Silwani youth and community members share their lives with us, their village becomes an easily accessible way to understand Palestinian history and current reality. Written with young people in mind, the richly illustrated text stresses connections between the lives of youth in the US and Palestine: criminalization of youth, forced relocation, the impact of colonialism on Indigenous communities, efforts to bury history, and inspiring examples of resistance and resilience.

JODY SOKOLOWER is co-coordinator of the Teach Palestine Project at the Middle East Children’s Alliance. Formerly managing editor of Rethinking Schools, Jody is a teacher educator who has taught middle and high school social studies and English. She was lead editor of Rethinking Sexism, Gender and Sexuality and editor of Teaching about the Wars in the Middle East.

NICK ESTES is co-founder of Red Nation and author of Our History is the Future: Standing Rock Versus the Dakota Access Pipeline, and the Long Tradition of Indigenous Resistance.

SUMAC

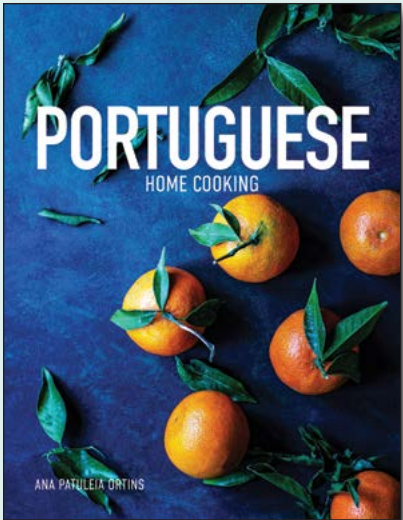

Recipes and Stories from Syria

by Anas Atassi; photography by Rania Kataf

The Syrian kitchen, shaped by influences from neighboring countries, has deep historical roots and evolved to perfection over thousands of years. Sumac is filled with traditional and contemporary Syrian recipes that were inspired by personal stories. The gorgeous photography illustrates how beautiful this country was and still is, and family photographs add depth to the author’s history. Each chapter is filled with the author’s memories of family celebrations and the country that inspired the book. He tells stories of traditional weekend breakfasts in his grandmother’s garden and of the mezze his mother cooked for family gatherings. There are memories of the rich aromatic flavors of the Syrian kitchen where fragrant spices like the lemony and deep red sumac are prized ingredients. In the author’s words: “With this book, I hope to build a bridge between Syrian culture and the rest of the world, with food the common denominator. But even more, I hope that Sumac will present a positive image of my country, in spite of all the unfortunate events now taking place in Syria.”

ANAS ATASSI was born in Homs, Syria and now lives in Amsterdam. Every summer the whole family went back to Homs to be together and celebrate the season. This is his first cookbook.

PORTUGUESE HOME COOKING

by Ana Patuleia Ortins; photography by Hiltrud Schulz

The Mediterranean diet is famed for its fresh and vibrant cuisine. In this book, Ana Patuleia Ortins invites you to discover or revisit the soul-comforting, peasant food of Portugal, just as vibrant, yet distinct from that of its neighbors. Peppered with a lifetime of anecdotes from a passionate cook, Portuguese Home Cooking draws us into an immigrant kitchen where traditional culinary methods were handed down from father to daughter, shared and refined with the help of the family and friends who watched, chopped, and tasted. The recipes in this cookbook are of dishes prepared as they are in Portugal—with the measurements tried and tested, and the ingredients and methods fully explained. With warmth and gusto, Ana Patuleia Ortins shares garden-fresh salads, hearty wine and garlic braises, legumes and leafy greens, meat and shellfish dishes, rustic breads, and the luscious desserts for which Portugal is known. Beautiful food and location photography will transport you to Portugal’s picturesque countryside, and novices and experienced chefs alike will delight in the culture and cuisine, whether nostalgic for home, or discovering it for the first time.

ANA PATULEIA ORTINS holds a degree in culinary arts and teaches Portuguese cooking at local New England colleges. She is the author of Authentic Portuguese Cooking.

NEW ILLUSTRATED CHILDREN’S BOOKS

A STUNNING PICTURE BOOK ABOUT ONE LITTLE GIRL AND HER ORANGUTAN FRIEND, BASED ON THE GREENPEACE FILM THAT BECAME A VIRAL SENSATION

APRIL

THERE’S A RANG-TAN IN MY BEDROOM

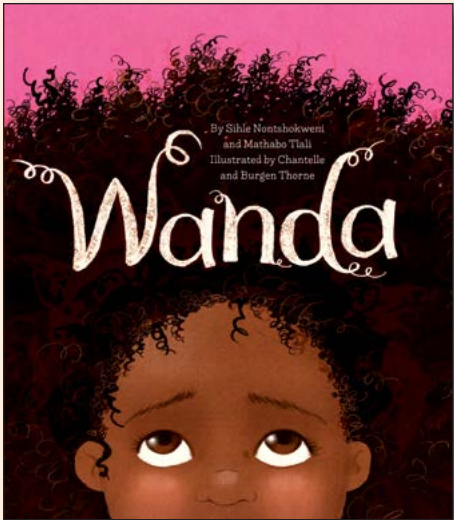

by James Sellick; illustrated by Frann Preston-Gannon
foreword by Emma Thompson

When a little girl discovers a mischievous orangutan on the loose in her bedroom, she can’t understand why it keeps shouting OOO! at her shampoo and her chocolate. But when Rang-tan explains that there are humans running wild in her rainforest, burning down trees so they can grow palm oil to put in products, the little girl knows what she has to do: help save the orangutans! Published in collaboration with Greenpeace, featuring a foreword from Emma Thompson and brought to life by award-winning illustrator Frann Preston-Gannon, this is a very special picture book with a vital message to share. This timely picture book focusing on the environmental crisis we all face includes information about orangutans and palm oil plus exciting ideas about how young readers can make a difference.

JAMES SELICK is a storyteller and children’s books author. When he’s not writing picture books for children, he works at Mother, a creative agency.

FRANN PRESTON-GANNON is an award-winning illustrator and author. Her books include The Journey Home, Dave’s Cave, and I Am the Seed that Grew the Tree.

AN EMPOWERING PICTURE BOOK FROM SOUTH AFRICA ABOUT A YOUNG GIRL WHO OVERCOMES ENDLESS TEASING

MARCH

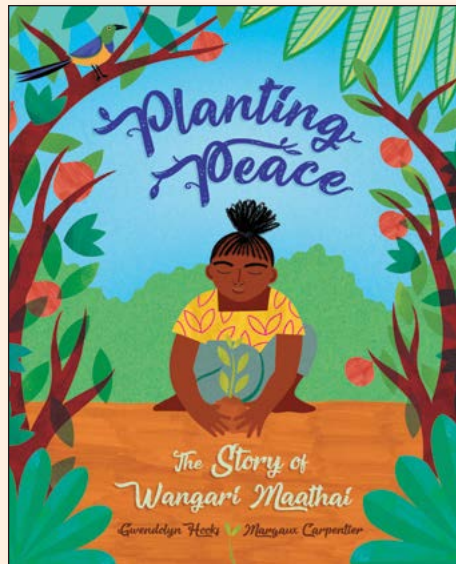

WANDA

by Sihle Nontshokweni and Mathabo Tlali illustrated by Chantelle and Burgen Thorne

Meet Wanda, with her beautiful head full of hair. She is brave and strong, but she’s unhappy because of the endless teasing by the boys at school for her “thorn bush” and “thunderstorm cloud.” Through Grandma Makhulu’s hair secrets and stories she finds the courage to face her fears and learn to appreciate that her hair is a crown—not a burden—and it is something to be proud of. This book is about identity and beauty, celebrating how cultural pride is learned and passed on over generations.

MATHABO TLALI is an acclaimed children’s author born and bred in the Eastern Cape of South Africa. She has the yearning to understand and engage the thoughts and realities of others through various artistic and digital platforms. SIHLE NONTSHOKWENI is a PhD candidate at KU Leuven, South Africa. Her research is focused on the successes and failures of school desegregation in post-apartheid South Africa. CHANTELLE AND BURGEN THORNE are internationally recognized illustrators of children’s books with over 20 years’ experience in educational publishing.

CONTEXT AND ALTERNATIVE TO THE
OFTEN DEHUMANIZING STORIES OF CONFLICT AND CRISIS

THE CAMEL'S NEIGHBOR
Travels and Travelers in Yemen
by Andrew Moscrop

In 2014, a coup d'état in Sanaa paved the way for a devastating conflict in Yemen. Andrew Moscrop, a physician, cancelled plans to return to the country that he had once called home. Instead, he returned to his diaries and delved into memories of a time when he lived in a rambling old tower house in Sanaa. As the war unfolded, he re-read the accounts of past travelers to the country. And while working in Greece, treating refugees from other Middle Eastern war zones, he began writing a book set in Yemen.

Examining the impressions of adventurers, merchants, and scientists, as well as travel writers, Moscrop explores how Yemen has been seen and understood by foreigners from Europe and the US. These visitors include blundering missionaries, aristocratic Englishmen, and unlikely spies. Moscrop delivers an intriguing perspective on Western encounters with the Islamic world, examining the imagery and clichés by which Yemen has been represented from the sixteenth century to the present.

Evocative descriptions of Sanaa and its unique cityscape, as well as empathetic portrayals of people encountered and events experienced, all create a narrative by turns thoughtful and unexpected.

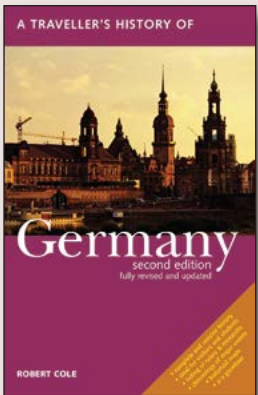

ANDREW MOSCROP received his degree in public health from Harvard University, was trained as a doctor in Edinburgh, and studied history in London.

A TRAVELLER'S HISTORY OF GERMANY
by Robert Cole

"A lively overview... The book helps the visitor make sense of the country against the background of its diverse heritage... a valuable companion... recommended..."
—Library Journal

A Traveller's History of Germany offers a complete and authoritative history of a country of which much of its rich past and legacy of great culture has been forgotten after the traumas of the two world wars. There were Germans long before there was Germany. Germanic peoples lived for centuries in Western, Central, and Eastern Europe with similar yet not identical languages and culture. Over time these developed into regional principalities and city states under the nominal rule of first the Roman Empire, then the Holy Roman Empire, and finally the Habsburg Empire. German unification did not come until 1871 under Bismarck. Germany became a world power, fuelled not only by industrialization but also by a new ideology of nationalism, a power that took on the rest of the world twice in the twentieth century and lost. Since 1945 it has risen from the ashes to become a major force—of a more palatable kind—within Europe.

Robert Cole presents the facts in a clear and literate format and also gives the reader expert analysis of the events. The book also gives practical information for visitors, includes historical gazetteer—cross-referenced to the main text—and is illustrated with relevant maps plus a Chronology of Events.

ROBERT COLE teaches Modern European History at Utah State University. He is the author of A Traveller's History of France and A Traveller's History of Paris in the same series..

ONLY IN GUIDES

ABOUT THE SERIES
Published by The Urban Explorer, these city tales from new and unusual perspectives provide independent cultural travelers with unforgettable memories. Ideal for those who want to escape the crowds and get beyond the well-known paths, as well as for those inhabitants who perhaps thought they already knew their city. Eccentric museums, secret gardens, iconic structures, idiosyncratic shops, colorful characters, and unusual places of worship.

“The Only In Guides help passionate travellers uncover the hidden treasures of a city, sending them home with indelible memories.” —Timeless Travels Magazine

ONLY IN SEVILLE
A Guide to Unique Locations, Hidden Corners and Unusual Objects
by Duncan J. D. Smith

Discover Seville’s colorful history, astonishing architecture and dynamic street life with this explorer’s guide to Spain’s most alluring city. It features more than 55 fascinating and unusual historical sites, including grand palaces and closed convents, artistic havens and secluded patios, fervent traditions and epicurean delights. From Moorish minarets and medieval shipyards to Andalusia’s tallest tower and the most modern suspension bridge, this guide is a must-have for visitors. The author visits the world’s largest wooden structure, Spain’s oldest tapas bar, a museum of tile making, and a former royal cigar factory. Escape the crowds and set off on your own urban expedition with the Only In Guides!

DUNCAN J.D. SMITH is the sole author of the Only In Guides and a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

INTERLINK TRAVELLER’S COMPANIONS

ABOUT THE SERIES
This series of anthologies presents the observations of citizens and of illustrious characters such as Byron, Goethe, Ruskin, Cassanova, and Robert Browning to create accounts of past times in some of the world’s most glorious cities. Edited by recognized experts, with maps and illustrations, each title represents a historical perspective and a true sense of familiarity with the subject.

“Peter Ackroyd lives in London ... the fuller version should read, London lives in Peter Ackroyd.” —The Times

A TRAVELLER’S COMPANION TO LONDON
edited and introduced by Peter Ackroyd and Thomas Wright

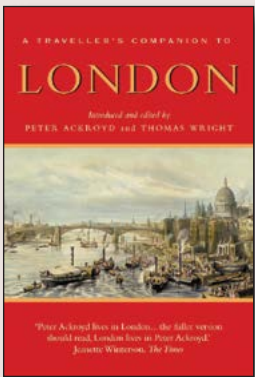

RICH AND DIVERSE VIEWS OF “THE GREATEST CITY ON EARTH”

London has witnessed everything from pilgrimages, celebrations, acts of heroism and moments of religious contemplation to riots, executions, grisly murders and disastrous fires. It is a history of work and capital, of power and exuberance, and of great creativity from a rich host of artists and writers, Shakespeare and Dickens among them, but also of violent crime, exploitation, loneliness and extreme hardship; life in the poverty ridden East of the city could not be more different than life in its opulent West End. Drawing upon extracts from contemporary letters, diaries and memoirs of fascinating inhabitants and visitors, this anthology by acclaimed London historian Peter Ackroyd and Thomas Wright tells the story of the city from its earliest years up to the present day. Modern visitors and armchair readers alike are given a ringside view to the past and an unforgettable experience of the essential spirit of London.

INTERLINK ON-THE-ROAD HISTORIES

MICHIGAN

by David Lee Poremba

Michigan's dramatic landscape includes roaring waterfalls, the country's tallest sand dunes, vast virgin pine forests, soft rolling countryside, and miles of sandy beaches—and its history is as varied and interesting. Poremba approaches the state's history from many angles: the stories of the peoples who have made Michigan home, from Native Americans to French explorers, European immigrants, and African Americans; the rise of its industries, including mining, lumber, tobacco, and automotive; the intricacies of its politics, from the Civil War, to the civil rights movement, to the recent election of Michigan's first woman governor.

Poremba's Michigan is a concise account of the forces that have made Michigan the state it is today.

Historian DAVID LEE POREMBA manages the Burton Historical Collection at the Detroit Public Library and is the author of several books on Detroit.

INTERLINK TRAVELLERS' WILDLIFE GUIDES

FLORIDA

by Fiona Sunquist, Mel Sunquist, and Les Beletsky

Travelers to Florida go for sun, sand, surf, and visits to the state's world-famous theme parks, but increasingly leave the beach and amusement parks for part of their stay to explore Florida's incredible natural attractions: stunning subtropical scenery, wonderful hiking and bird watching trails, exceptional fishing, boating, and canoeing, the wet wilderness of Everglades National Park, the continental USA's only coral reefs, and glimpses of exotic wildlife. In this book is all the information you need to find, identify, and learn about Florida's magnificent animal, plant, and sea life.

FIONA SUNQUIST is a science and natural history writer and a roving editor for International Wildlife Magazine. MEL SUNQUIST is a professor in the Department of Wildlife Ecology and Conservation at the University of Florida, Gainesville. LES BELETSKY is the author of many books, including Costa Rica, Ecuador, and Peru in this series.

ABOUT THE SERIES

The Travellers' Wildlife Guides are aimed at environmentally conscious travellers for whom some of the best parts of any trip are glimpses of wildlife in natural settings. The purpose of this series is to enhance the enjoyment of a trip and enrich wildlife sightings by providing identifying information on the most frequently encountered animals in each of the represented countries. With stunning color illustrations and photographs of amphibians, reptiles, mammals, and birds, this series is unique in that it aims to aid the visitor in identifying all types of vertebrate land animals, while providing current information on the animals' conservation status.

Not only for travellers, the Travellers' Wildlife Guides are for all those fascinated by wildlife and concerned about our environment.
